Letter of Recommendation

To Whom It May Concern

I highly recommend Marcus Trawick to receive the Eta Omega scholarship. As his teacher for 9th grade Human Geography and 11th grade AP United States History, I can attest to Mr. Trawick's high level of academic performance. He is a scholar with an outstanding academic record, and he has demonstrated qualities that are consistent with your organization.

In the three years that I have known Mr. Trawick, he has produced academic work of the highest caliber. He will undoubtedly do well academically at the collegiate level. However, what you will notice as he matriculates through college is that Mr. Trawick possesses an intellectual curiosity that is often infectious. The student body will greatly benefit from curious nature. Mr. Trawick is extremely inquisitive about various academic subjects and consistently seeks to find connections between subjects. For example, in Human Geography, Mr. Trawick sought to study the nuanced changes in Black culture that occurred about as a result of the African Diaspora. I believe this inquisitive nature coupled with his relentless work ethic is the reason for Mr. Trawick's academic success. However, his academic success is not limited to just my classroom. In all classes, Mr. Trawick postures himself to learn, and he brings positive contributions to the academic environment. Additionally, his character aligns with the values and principles your institution holds dear. Mr. Trawick's character is not limited to his academic honesty. He has proven that he makes decisions that reflect a strong moral and ethical foundation. Many of his peers see him as a moral compass. They often seek him out for advice regarding moral or ethical dilemmas.

Through my interactions with Mr. Trawick, I have come realize that his world view is centered around the need to help others. Mr. Trawick understands that he is most successful when he is using his gifts and talents to benefit the larger community. In college, Mr. Trawick hopes to study business. While Mr. Trawick is passionate about entrepreneurship, and he sees college as an opportunity to help underserved communities by using his knowledge of business to increase the amount of minority owned businesses. As a result of Mr. Trawick's dedication to academic excellence and commitment to underserved communities, I highly recommend him to the Eta Omega scholarship.

Sincerely,
Brandon Render
