Dear Selection Committee:

It is with great honor that I recommend Mahamad Drammeh for the Eta Omega Chapter Scholarship. He is a young man who demonstrates unique persistence and mature purpose. As his Early College Coordinator, I recognize that Mahamad seeks earnestly to engage in experiences that develop his character both academically and socially. He is an individual whose aspirations and focus are positively aligned for continued academic excellence.

Mahamad is a dynamic learner. He is very committed to seizing every didactic moment. He often allows his inquisitive mind to confidently transform classroom discussions through deductive and inductive practices. As a student at Booker T. Washington Early College High School, Mahamad has remained true to high academic standards. He will graduate in May with 27 dual enrollment college credits from Georgia State University. Although obstacles have occurred, he has persevered, and he has maintained his ranking in the top 5% of his class. His presence is constantly noticed and respected by peers and staff. He is dedicated to the organizations in which he serves, assertive when seeking results, and always fair in his thoughts and actions.

Mahamad is involved in extracurricular activities that satisfy him intellectually as well as socially, including the Student Government Association, Booker T. Washington Varsity Soccer and Football Team, the National Beta Club and the National Honor Society. He is a member of HOSA (Healthcare Occupations of America), FBLA (Future Business Leaders of America), and the Urban Debate Team. Mahamad is always giving back in the community by volunteering at Hosea Feed the Hungry and organizing the Booker T. Washington High School National Honor Society Food Drive. He also volunteers for the semi-annual BTW campus beautification project and Read Across America.

Because of his exemplary work inside and outside the classroom, Mahamad is a true role model for his peers. Mahamad allows neither circumstances nor others to manipulate his thinking. Because of such a strong mindset, I am clear that Mahamad is destined to continue on the rigorous path of excellence that he has set for himself. I, therefore, strongly contend that Mahamad will be a great asset and investment to your organization and encourage favorable consideration of his application.

Sincerely,

Tiffany Stenbridge-Taylor
